SOCIAL WORK DEPARTMENT

Our Vision:

To train social service specialists who know the values of their society, can analyze the social environment and institutions well, and are equipped with universal standards in the field of social service. We also aim to be a scientific institution that develops approaches that understand people holistically in the field of social service, cooperates with national and international organizations, and produces information for solutions in local, national and international problem areas.

Our Mission:

To work for the personal maturity of people by understanding them as a whole with their biological-material and psychological-spiritual aspects; to produce information and services in the light of contemporary educational methods and techniques for social welfare areas and to contribute to the increase of social welfare by ensuring their application to social life.

BÖLÜM BAŞKANININ MESAJI

Dear students,

Two international organizations representing social work (International Federation of Social Workers (IFSW) and International Association of Schools of Social Work (IASSW)) define social work as follows:

Social work is a universal academic discipline that mediates social change, social cohesion, and the liberation and emancipation of people. Social justice, human rights, shared responsibility and respect for their rights fully replace social work. Social work, offered with theories of social and human sciences and local knowledge, addresses life difficulties and brings people and structures together to increase well-being (IFSW, 2020; IASSW, 2020).

The social worker, who is in the category of the social work profession; is a professional activity that develops initiation techniques for the difficulties they experience in groups, groups, groups and groups, and guides and applies the knowledge and values of service social to the disadvantaged distribution (such as children, disabled people, elderly people, women, disabled people, substance abusers, young people).

The knowledge, skills and values required to fulfill these duties and responsibilities of a commercial activity are taught through many compulsory and elective courses in our department's curriculum. During the first three years, the knowledge, skills and values of social work are taught theoretically. In the last year, you are provided with the theoretical knowledge you have earned and registered in any institution or organization where the social worker can employ. This practical experience that you will have before graduating will support your personal development as well as provide you with professional skills and behaviors, and will undoubtedly make you stronger in the areas you will work.

We are happy to see all data that want to take as their guide many social work values such as empowerment, the uniqueness of the applicant, confidentiality, social justice and freedom, respect for differences, unconditional positive acceptance and working together in the social work department and among us.

Assoc. Prof. Dr. Necmettin GÜL

Head of Social Work Department
